Several prominent artists are contributing their services to the benefit performance at the Princess Theatre, next Thursday afternoon, on behalf of the Normyl Welfare Association. This is the initial affair in a charity campaign started by Mrs. Philip M. Lydig and Miss Sarah Graham Mulhall to raise $30,000 in order to buy outright, for free distribution to those needing it, the Normyl Prescription, which has been found so successful in combating the drug and alcohol habits. The organization up to this time in this country, although achieving some notable results, has been working under the handicap of effecting a cure through the use of a "secret remedy." The Canadian chemist who discovered the cure has heretofore held all rights and knowledge as to the prescription, and the Normyl Welfare has been forced to get the "commodity" already made up and direct from him, obtaining it on a royalty basis, which, of necessity, has imposed a charge on those using it, although no one has been refused help because of a lack of means. But with the private ownership of the prescription the institution, which has just become incorporated, aims to lift the ban of secrecy and also offer to the world free of charge this cure which has been found of such great benefit to those suffering from intemperance. The benefit on Thursday will start the campaign. The programme for the occasion includes Mlle. le Fontenay, of Covent Garden; George Copeland, pianist; Mlle. Alice Verlet, Grand Opera, Paris; Mlle. Elise Dufour, in a Debussy dance interlude; Miss Marguerite Huston (Mrs. William Theodore Carrington), songs; Mme. Alice Archainbaud, Odéon Theatre, Paris, in "Lionette," a Cornish one-act drama, with R. Peyton Gibbs and Daniel Pennell in the supporting cast.

At the home of Mrs. Robert Coleman Taylor, 155 West Fifty-eighth Street, on Monday, a meeting was held of the patronesses of the annual dance for the Blue Ridge Industrial School, in Greene County, Va. The school uses all the money it receives to educate young Virginian mountaineers in useful crafts. The affair will be held in the Della Robbia Room of the Vanderbilt Hotel March 6, and the tickets are $2.50 each.

Among the patronesses are Miss Sarah Alexander, Mrs. A. M. Anderson, Mrs. Reginald Brooks, Mrs. George H. Brewster, Mrs. Irving Brock, Mrs. George Gordon Battle, Mrs. J. Herbert Claiborne, Mrs. Winthrop Cowdin, Mrs. W. Benton Crisp, Mrs. George Ethridge, Mrs. W. E. Caillard, Mrs. Thomas T. Gaunt, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Mrs. Stuart Gibbons, Mrs. Riley M.
